

Julie Seton will be offering three classes for Scouting WOW!

- Everyone is invited to learn about E.T. Seton's extraordinary life as a naturalist, artist, writer, and champion of building character in youth. The class "Boy Scout Co-Founder E. T. Seton" may qualify as a component toward the Scouting Heritage Merit Badge.
- Ever wonder why there is a strong emphasis on Nature Study and Indian Lore in Scouting? "Why Nature Study and Indian Lore?" will reveal the answers!
- Storytelling is the world's oldest teaching technique; and learning to tell enchanting stories is challenging and fun. Telling Yarns to Teach: Storytelling to Impart Knowledge
This is a two-hour class for Scout Leaders

Julie A. Seton is the youngest granddaughter of Ernest Thompson Seton, a BSA co-founder. She grew up in Santa Fe, NM at her grandparent's homestead called Seton Castle and moved to Las Cruces to attend college. She uses her education in professional communication to help her clients create, review and test their emergency response plans and improve their skills in leadership and communication. Since 2014, she has been speaking to audiences across the US about E.T Seton's philosophies on nature, character building and respecting other cultures. She has recently republished his autobiography, Trail of an Artist-Naturalist which is available at Scouting WOW and on Amazon.
